LIB-IT DMS on tour!

Press release

DMS EXPO 2009: Europe's leading event for Enterprise Content and Document Management

Together with partner company One Click Solutions, LIB-IT DMS GmbH enjoyed a highly successful exhibition at this year's DMS EXPO in Cologne

The LIB-IT DMS stand was very well attended on all three days of the exhibition. FILERO's power, performance and flexibility was demonstrated to visitors with its own live production system based in Stuttgart. LIB-IT DMS also presented its latest product FILEROader, designed for importing large amounts of structured data to and from FILERO without the need for programming knowledge. Exhibiting alongside LIB-IT DMS was its partner company One Click Solutions, which presented its range of solutions for the capture of digital documents in conjunction with FILERO. A representative of ALEVANTI eG was also on hand to show their own FILERO system running as a SaaS solution.

LIB-IT DMS GmbH enjoyed a large number of visitors at this year's DMS EXPO in Cologne and was particularly busy on the second day of the fair (Wednesday). Several promising leads were generated and are currently being followed up. A number of visitors were looking for solutions to concrete problems and LIB-IT DMS was particularly pleased to be able to demonstrate FILERO's flexibility and ability to be adapted to a customer's exact requirements. The most frequently enquired about topics were digital personnel files, GDPdU-compliant archiving and Enterprise Content Management.

LIB-IT DMS' new product FILEROader was very well received, as it provides an answer to a complex problem which many companies face. FILEROader allows non-technical staff to import and export large amounts of structured data between FILERO and Microsoft Excel. LIB-IT DMS staff demonstrated to visitors how simple FILEROader is to configure. The configuration process is intuitive and presents the data structures from the customer's FILERO system to the user for configuration – the user simply has to select which data they wish to transfer. Non-technical users are thus able to import large amounts of data without the need for programming skills.

Another innovative development was the extended range of products on offer from One Click Solutions. ClickReader, ClickWizard and their new product AutoClick are all closely integrated with FILERO. The products enable the user to click on information in an OCR-scanned document and then immediately transfer that data to FILERO. Time spent inputting data is reduced and errors such as typing mistakes are excluded. Productivity is thus increased significantly. One Click Solutions demonstrated their products with their own FILERO system, which they use in-house. One Click Solutions is a certified FILERO distributor.

As in previous years, there was significant interest in FILERO, LIB-IT DMS GmbH's web-based Enterprise Information Management System. Using LIB-IT DMS' own live FILERO system, based close to Stuttgart and with over half a million records, visitors were shown FILERO's power, performance and excellent search functionality. FILERO is a flexible parameter-based system, which means that it can be adapted to an organization's processes. A FILERO customer can therefore combine FILERO with existing applications or use FILERO to replace existing systems. This means that users will only need to use one intuitive single point of access rather than several complicated applications. In other words, customers can completely adapt FILERO to their own requirements. Examples of FILERO applications include Customer Relationship Management, Contract Management, Records Management, E-mail Management, Document Management, Personnel File Management, Knowledge Management and much more.

A representative from ALEVANTI eG was also demonstrating how FILERO is used by them as a SaaS (Software as a Service) solution.

New opportunities

A number of potential new FILERO distributors approached LIB-IT DMS GmbH to become partners. If you're interested in becoming one of LIB-IT DMS' partner companies, then please get in touch. Contact details can be found below.

2010 and on

The DMS EXPO is without doubt the most important German trade fair in the ECM sector and it was pleasing to see so many visitors and exhibitors despite the economic downturn. LIB-IT DMS GmbH looks forward to building upon this year's success once again at next year's DMS EXPO.

We hope to see you there!!
